

The G3S Lab “Doktoratsveranstaltung Social Sciences”

We offer this format as a bridge between our “Get it started” and “Get it done course” to create space for questions that arise before, during, and after fieldwork, as well as during the writing process.

The G3S lab is a space for thinking, presenting, imagining and discussing PhD projects including insights, questions and challenges. G3S members can present their ongoing research, suggest guest talks, or lead workshops on data management, teaching, publishing, or life beyond academia. The format is very flexible and will be co-produced by the course participants during the kick-off session at the beginning of the semester. The lab is open to all interested G3S members, especially PhD candidates in the middle of their projects!

We will meet in the lecture hall of Urban Studies (Hebelstrasse 3) on the following dates from 12:15-13:45:

22 September 2026

29 September 2026

13 October 2026

27 October 2026

10 November 2026

1 December 2026

8 December 2026

Lunch snacks will be provided.

If you would like to present your work, bring excerpts of your data and discuss possible analysis, share challenges regarding your writing process, or your work in larger research projects and assistant position (for instance regarding teaching), please write to Michelle or me.

If you wish to join the course, please sign up via the online curriculum. We would like to invite PhD candidates who are able to attend regularly, in order to create a group that shares their research experiences and supports each other during the course of this semester.

If you have questions, please let us know.

We are much looking forward to hearing more about your work!

All the best

Julia and Michelle
